COMPARE

Choosing the wrong proficiency testing (PT) provider can make a for a long day if your choice cannot provide you with the services you really need. Not only to meet your quality requirements but to help you make better measurements. We suggest you compare what to look for in a proficiency test provider.

NAPT wants you to COMPARE. Compare the various services of each PT provider, ILC/PT kits offered, pricing, years of experience, full time staff vs. part time staff, technical advisors or no technical advisors; Are like measurements against national labs? Is the provider full time PT or part time out of one's garage? Maybe a Johnny-come-lately looking to make a quick buck! These are just a few of the things you should be looking at for a quality PT provider.

National Association for Proficiency Testing is a non-profit ILC/PT provider that has over 20 years of experience, provides a full-time staff with superior customer service and will be there to help you meet your quality requirements.

NAPT expanded its services to include the QMS Navigator, a software for labs looking to create and monitor their own proficiency testing or who just want to better organize their quality management in proficiency testing.
