Custom I-ILC/PTs

Having a challenging time finding the right proficiency test?

Maybe what you need is a Custom I-ILC/PT.

What is a Custom I-ILC/PT aka INTRA laboratory comparison?

An INTRA is an in-house proficiency test. NAPT will administer support either by managing the INTRA or referring a lab to purchase a license or multiple licenses and use the QMS Navigator to administer their own ILC/PT.

How do I get started?

The best way to get started is to fill out the Request for Development of INTRA ILC/PT on NAPT's website and attach a copy of the calibration certificate on the unit your conducting a proficiency test.

2017 - Out with the old and in with the NEW

NAPT is on its way adding and/or replacing kits to its 85+ ILC/PT inventory.

NAPT still needs to hear from YOU on what the metrology community wants in 2017. Without your input, it is hard for NAPT to know exactly which ILC/PTs to put into distribution.

Chances are if there is a proficiency test that you wish was developed some other lab is thinking the same thing.

Contact NAPT today to share what you believe other labs will want to see as a new ILC/PT. napt@proficiency.org/ILC-PTsuggestion

New 2017 kits to be released - Spline Plug, Sine Bar, Thread Plugs.

Participants will now be able to access their reports via the customer portal.
